JSA-S1004 : 2020 Certification

With our mission of “We deliver it at its best.”, we have been providing optimal solutions to our customers’ business issues as experts in chilled and frozen logistics, utilizing the abundant on-site capabilities and know-how we have cultivated over the past 50 years since our founding.

By obtaining certification from a third-party certification organization for the conformity of our high-quality cold chain logistics, we can provide our customers with a highly reliable service that they can use with peace of mind and safety. In addition, by undergoing continuous audits, we will maintain high standards and ensure reliability.

With the aim of continuing to provide customers with high-quality cold chain logistics, we will also work to obtain certification from third-party certification organizations at other sales offices, and provide highly reliable services. We will also consider obtaining international certification with a view to global expansion.
