Minaminihon Total Logistics Service Inc. Special site banner

This year in June, our company celebrated its 50th anniversary. To commemorate this milestone, we produced a corporate introduction video, which, together with a message from our CEO, was published on the 50th anniversary special site on November 10.

In line with this, the video previously displayed in the top banner was restructured into a story that better reflects our business and renewed to coincide with the launch of the special site. Additionally, the global navigation, which was previously placed below the top banner, has been relocated to the upper section of the banner, improving visibility and usability for site visitors and making the site easier to navigate.

Our company will continue to operate the website with a focus on the user's perspective.
